

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION DEPARTMENT.

There are in Indiana 327 building and loan associations. Twenty-seven new associations were organized from June 30, 1908, to September 30, 1909. Eleven associations have liquidated and closed and thirteen are in process of liquidation. All the associations rendered the annual statement required by law, and the same, with few exceptions, show that the associations are in a prosperous condition.

Lists and tables follow, showing the new associations, those in process of liquidation and those liquidated and closed. Also a partial comparative statement is given showing the increased business the past year, and statements of the receipts, disbursements, assets and liabilities of the various associations by the annual statements showing their condition June 30, 1909.

The following recommendations are also submitted and your consideration of them requested with the view of seeking legislation thereon at the next session of the General Assembly:

1. That associations be subjected to complete and biennial examinations by the State Auditor at such periods as will best meet the accounting each six months.
2. That the principal officers of the associations be bonded to the approval of the board of directors of the associations, and subject to the inspection and suggestion of the Auditor of State.

These recommendations are made because the building and loan as a financial institution has far outgrown its original purposes, and the demands of it make necessary broader financial privileges, but more strict state supervision as well.

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION DEPARTMENT, STATE OF INDIANA.

There are in Indiana 339 building and loan associations. All of the associations rendered the usual annual statement required by law, showing satisfactory progress during the past year, and the gross assets of the building and loan associations of Indiana at the end of the year amounted to the extraordinary sum of nearly $40,000,000.

In my last report I earnestly recommended legislation at the next session of the General Assembly, that the building and loan associations should be subjected to complete examinations by the Auditor of State on the same basis as the State Banking Department, and that the principal officers of the associations be bonded to the approval of the Board of Directors of the associations and subject to the inspection and suggestion of the Auditor of State.

I am more than ever convinced that the building and loan associations, properly and honestly conducted, are the greatest of all known home building institutions in the country, and that they will accomplish far more for the happiness and contentment of the great masses of the people than any other financial institution.

These associations help to enable the great masses of the people to acquire homes by small savings from week to week, and month to month, and such associations are the greatest known factors for the making of contented and law-abiding citizens and taxpayers.

As I have repeatedly stated and firmly believe, the building and loan association as a financial institution has far outgrown its original purposes, and the demands of it make necessary broader financial privileges, but more strict state supervision as well.

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION DEPARTMENT, STATE OF INDIANA.

We desire to congratulate the entire people of the State on the passage of the excellent new building and loan law at the recent session of the Legislature.

A general revision of the laws relating to such associations has been needed for many years and the enactment of such a law has been recommended by every one of my immediate predecessors, for the reason that the building and loan association as a financial institution has far outgrown its original purposes, and the demands of it made necessary broader financial privileges, but more strict supervision as well.

At last, through the public-spirited efforts of members of the Executive Committee of the Savings and Loan Association League of Indiana, the work of revision has been accomplished, and, with the co-operation of this department, a complete new law, applicable to all such associations, a law of which it can be said with perfect fairness, that Indiana today has the best building and loan law in the United States, a law which in the future, will be recognized as the most important piece of legislation passed at the last session of the Legislature.

Building and loan associations in their very nature, are semi-philanthropic and have a two-fold purpose; to encourage the saving of money and to promote the ownership of homes. They are the most economically conducted financial institutions in the world, and they enable the great masses of the people to acquire homes by small savings from week to week and month to month, and such associations are the greatest known factors for the making of contented and law-abiding citizens and taxpayers.

The members of these institutions, the community and the State, will all reap manifold benefits from their organization, encouragement and growth.

With the same system of State examination as provided for banks and trust companies, which we now have under our new building and loan law, and with proper and conservative management, building and loan associations are as safe and sound as the most conservatively managed financial institutions in the State.

The first association in Indiana was the Richmond Building Association, organized at Richmond, August 16, 1870. Indiana now has 363 associations with a membership of more than 130,000 and assets amounting to nearly $50,000,000.

Last year's reports show that there were 5,713 such associations in the United States, with a membership of 2,016,611 and total assets amounting to $856,332,719. The reports show an increase over preceding year of 114 associations, 96,394 members and $72,156,966 in assets. The new law provides that every domestic building and loan association shall in the month of January of each year file in the office of the Auditor of State a statement of its condition at the close of business on the 31st day of December preceding. Therefore, it will be impossible to publish the complete annual report of such associations until January, 1912, at which time a full and complete report will be published of the business of all building and loan associations in Indiana, from the time of the last annual report June 30, 1910, to December 31, 1911, inclusive, in a separate report for distribution among all such associations and for anyone else, who may be interested in said report.

It is a pleasure to report, that of the 131 associations examined by the State building and loan examiners during the last five months, not one was found insolvent. While many irregularities were found, but few were of criminal intent, but nearly all were due to faulty and imperfect bookkeeping.

Under Section 28 of the new law, "any such associations shall keep full and correct books of account, showing all their operations and the auditor of State is hereby authorized to formulate and prescribe such regulations respecting the manner and form of keeping such accounts, as he shall deem necessary for the making of reports and examinations required by law, such regulation to be uniform for all accounts of the same class."

Under this section of the law, the building and loan department had printed, a complete lot of samples of every description, of books and blanks, pass-books, articles of incorporation and by-laws, the most complete ever furnished by any building and loan department in the United States. A complete outfit of samples was mailed to every association in the State, and with the revision already made and being made along the line of the system promulgated by this department, it will only be a short time until building and loan associations will have such a uniform and perfect system of bookkeeping as is only found in well regulated banks and trust companies.

By reason of the enactment of our new building and loan law, the associations throughout the State are not only entering upon a new era, but as a result of the increased confidence in the exceptionally wise, safe and conservative provisions of the new law, building associations in all sections of the State have made unusual progress during the last year in the great number of new members, the large increase in assets and the unprecedented increase in new associations.

Considering the number of associations, the large membership and assets of such associations, we confidently assert, without any fear of successful contradiction, that the State Building and Loan Department of Indiana, is more efficiently and economically conducted than any other similar State Building and Loan Department in the United States.

BANK DEPARTMENT.

It is the duty of the Auditor of State to enforce the laws pertaining to banking. The Legislature of 1911 improved the laws in the following respects:

Bonds of officers of State Banks and Trust Companies are now filed in the office of the Auditor. Formerly they were filed with the Secretary, and the Auditor had no means of knowing when bonds had expired, or, in fact, when they were on file.

Sufficient bank examiners were provided so that the Auditor can have semi-annual examinations of all the banks. Previous to the enactment of this law, savings banks were examined once in two years, trust companies every six months, state and private banks once a year. Under this law many banks went as long as nineteen months between examinations, which was too long for careful and proper state supervision.

The Auditor now has six examiners, a sufficient number so that every bank can be examined semi-annually. The value of this law has already been demonstrated. Fees for examinations were increased to an amount so that the department is now self-sustaining. No examination could be conducted for $10, the minimum fee under the old law, and banks with resources of two millions could not be examined properly for a fee of $35, the maximum fee under the old law. The cost of maintenance has now been equally distributed among the banks in proportion to the resources of each bank.

The trust laws were amended so that the Auditor can close and take charge of a Trust Company when insolvent, the same as a state, private or savings bank.

The following improvements have been made in examination forms:

List showing name of every customer whose account is overdrawn, the amount of the overdraft and whether it is temporary or chronic.

List of doubtful loans, showing name of borrower, amount, and how long past due.

List of loans to officers and directors and their liability upon loans of the bank as endorsers.

List of loans in excess of $2,500, except mortgages. An index is kept of all these borrowers and all banks will be furnished information, showing the amount borrowed by any firm or individual from all the banks. We will not give you the name of the bank to whom the parties are indebted, but we will give you the amount owing to the banks combined; then you can decide for yourself whether or not they are borrowing more money than they can pay back. The value of this information can be readily understood.

List showing salary of officers and employes that are borrowers.

The examiners are now required to call in the directors during the examination and go over all the loans and discuss the general conditions, then the directors sign a statement showing that such an examination has been made; that the notes do not contain any accommodation paper; that they are all good, to the best of their knowledge and belief; that loans considered excessive will be reduced. This is a step in the right direction, as it makes directors direct.

We have had no bank failures in Indiana during the past fiscal year.

SECOND ANNUAL REPORT

UNDER THE

Provisions of the New Building and Loan Law, 1912.

WILLIAM H. O'BRIEN, Auditor of State, ex-Officio Inspector.

Prepared by GILBERT H. HENDREN, Chief Clerk State Building and Loan Department.

It is with sincere pleasure that we submit our second annual report under the provisions of the new building and loan law.

The condition of the associations as disclosed by the reports of our examiners during the second examination, shows a marked improvement since our first examination, in the matter of a more uniform system of accounts and greater interest manifested by the officers and the large increase in membership and assets.

Fourteen new associations were incorporated during the year and many of the old associations increased their capital stock.

The total number of associations in the State is now 357, with 142,202 members and assets amounting to $51,101,921.75.

Seven thousand eight hundred and seventy-five (7,875) new homes were built, or homes already built were purchased for members by building and loan associations, and thousands of loans were made to members, to improve the homes already owned by such members, during the year 1912.

The new building and loan law is now recognized as the most important piece of legislation passed at the 1911 session of the Legislature and is generally regarded as the best building and loan law in the United States.

Building and loan associations encourage thrift and economy and promote the ownership of homes.

Such associations are now under the same system of supervision and examination as provided for banks and trust companies, and are the most economically conducted, safest and most beneficent financial home building institutions in the world. It is gratifying to be able to report, that no surety company or individual bondsman has paid a dollar on any bond of any building and loan official of any association in Indiana, for any shortage since the new law went into effect and after the first examination.

In the pages that follow, will be found Statements, Resolutions, Attorney-General Honan's Opinion, Appellate Court Decision, Address of Governor Woodrow Wilson (now President of the United States) at Atlantic City, July 10, 1912, to the United States League of Building and Loan Associations, Statistical Tables, etc., for the year ending December 31, 1912, of each building and loan association doing business in Indiana, compiled from the original annual reports now on file with this department.

To the officers and members of all associations in the State we extend our best wishes and sincere desire for continued prosperity.

RESOLUTION OF SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION LEAGUE OF INDIANA, ADOPTED BY A UNANIMOUS VOTE.

INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA, February 13, 1913.

"Resolved by the delegates of the Savings and Loan Association League of Indiana, in biennial session assembled, That the new Building and Loan Law of 1911, of the State of Indiana, by the test of its actual operation over the period of two years, has demonstrated the wisdom of its passage and the benefits accruing to the associations of the State from regular supervision and examination by the Auditor of State.

Resolved further, That in the administration of this law by the Building and Loan Department, under the direction of the Hon. Gilbert H. Hendren, we recognize that the department, has been conducted with thoroughness, and conscientious devotion to duty, and with a view of promoting the best interests of all the associations of the State."

TORNADO INSURANCE.

This subject should be carefully taken into consideration by all building associations making large loans on property.

The destructive tornado at Terre Haute and other nearby towns, and windstorms in other localities of Indiana, makes it not only necessary for the protection of the members, but it should be mandatory for those having charge of the association's interests to see that each borrower has his property protected by a proper tornado policy in some responsible company. Fire insurance, tornado insurance and very conservative loaning in possible flood districts, are absolutely necessary to prevent the possible annihilation of building and loan associations in the event of a catastrophe.

QUICK ASSETS.

At the time of industrial depression, unusual floods, such as we had in Indiana this spring, tornadoes or other causes, a condition may be created demanding quick asset securities, which would be marketable, such as county or municipal bonds. Experience has proven that it would be conservative financiering for associations to carry a small per cent. of their assets in such securities. Then, with the provisions of the law that the board of directors may require ninety days notice in writing of withdrawing stockholders, and that not more than one-half of the funds received by the association in any month shall be applicable to the payment of withdrawing stockholders, unless otherwise ordered by the board of directors, makes such a proposition as a serious "run" on Indiana building and loan associations absolutely impossible.

CLEARING HOUSE FOR SURPLUS MONEY.

Under the provisions of Section 15 of the new building and loan law, all associations have authority to borrow money as follows:

“Sec. 15. Any such association shall have power to borrow money for any of its corporate purposes and issue its evidence of indebtedness therefor.”

Local conditions may be such that in one locality associations may have more money than they can loan, and in other localities associations may need to borrow money to meet the demands of borrowers during the building season of the year. Borrowing associations pay 6 per cent. interest per annum, payable semi-annually.

Such loans are practically a preferred claim on the assets of the borrowing association, for the reason that nothing could be distributed among the members in case of liquidation until the borrowed money had been repaid and, with the additional safeguards of State supervision and examination, there is no possibility of a loss to any association making such loans.

Neither Section 15, nor any other section of the new building and loan law, authorizes one association to buy the stock of another association.

Tens of thousands of dollars have been loaned through this department during the last year from associations in one part of the State to associations in other parts of the State, along the lines above indicated.

PREMIUMS.

The custom of charging premiums for loans is fast disappearing in the State of Indiana. This is in line with the modern progressive spirit of our building associations to furnish money to the borrowers at a reasonable rate of interest, now that the investments are safe under State supervision and examination. It is as necessary to have a good class of borrowers as it is to have a good class of investors for the future welfare of building and loan associations.

A BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION IN REALITY IS A CLEARING HOUSE FOR ITS MEMBERS AND IS EXEMPT FROM TAXATION.

“The assets of a building and loan association are made up of the individual holdings of its members and belongs to each of them to the amount which they have contributed to a general fund. Therefore, the association in reality becomes a clearing house for its membership, and has no assets on which it can realize, such as other financial institutions have; so from the very nature of its co-operative character it has nothing that should be taxed outside of its real estate.” Sec. 22, of the Building and Loan Law, reads as follows.

“Sec. 22. All building and loan associations, as such, shall be exempt from taxation except upon their real estate. Shares of stock on which loans have not been made or advanced by the association, shall be considered and held as credits of the members, individually, and listed by them, and assessed against them for taxation as other property.”

No officer of any building and loan association is required by law to furnish a list of its members and a statement of their accounts with the association to an assessor, any more than banks and trust companies are required to furnish a list of their depositors and the amount due each depositor.

LIFE INSURANCE FOR BORROWERS.

Statistics have proven that the loss of homes through fire is but a small percentage to that compared with those who become sick, or who meet with accidents, or on account of the death of the borrower. Prominent insurance companies have given this matter careful consideration, by providing that the member may pay a regular monthly indemnity, a sum sufficient to guarantee the payment of the loan in case of death. This suggestion of insurance is submitted for the consideration of building associations and their borrowing members.

We submit a memorandum giving age and monthly rate of insurance on $1,000, as follows:

MEMORANDUM.

The yearly rates given in column "A" are the rates at which $1,000 of Ten Year Term Life Insurance may be obtained if the loan association pays the premium for each year in advance. The monthly rates given in column "B" are the rates the association should collect each month in advance from the member, to reimburse it for the annual premium advanced:

FOREIGN BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS.

There is not a foreign building and loan association authorized to do business in this State. Therefore, we warn every citizen of Indiana to beware of agents and solicitors of alleged foreign building and loan or home building associations. Demand that they show their certificate of authority from the Auditor of State or write to this office for information as to these blue-sky fakers, who have robbed quite a number of unsuspecting Indiana citizens during the last year.

DUTIES AND LIABILITY OF DIRECTORS.

Directors must attend all regular and special meetings as the responsible managers, and direct the business of the association. They must pass upon all loans; see that proper appraisement is made of all property upon which loans are to be made; see to it through the company's attorney that the title is good; that sufficient Fire and Tornado Insurance policies are taken in the matter of all loans; that the bonds of all officials are increased from time to time in proportion to the increased assets of the association, etc., as may be required by the by-laws of the association.

As to the personal liability of directors for gross negligence we submit the following opinion of the Attorney-General.

STATE OF INDIANA,
INDIANAPOLIS, February 21, 1912.

Hon. W. H. O'Brien, Auditor of State, Indianapolis, Ind.:

Dear Sir—You ask the question: Can an action be maintained against the directors of a building and loan association for gross negligence?

In answer, I would say that I am of the opinion that such an action can be maintained. This principle of law is well reasoned in the case of Coddington v. Canady, in the Supreme Court of Indiana, Vol. 157, page 243.

I have the honor to be, very truly yours,

THOS. M. HONAN,
Attorney-General.

THE HUMAN FACTOR IN BUILDING ASSOCIATIONS.

It is well known to every person who has investigated the subject at close range that co-operative building and savings and loan associations maintain a closer personal relationship to their members than other financial institutions. The human factor is everywhere in evidence. The member, as a rule, takes a personal interest in his association; he feels that he is part of it; he talks about it to his friends and acquaintances with that enthusiasm which is inspired by confidence in its stability, for he knows that every dollar of its assets is invested in first mortgages, and that these mortgages are being paid off in monthly installments. He will tell you about his friend who was drifting along, imagined he could not save any money, and the trouble he had in inducing him to make a start; another, friend has his home paid for now, at little or no more than it would cost him for a package of rent receipts. Thousands of members of associations have had experiences of this kind.

Many directors can give hundreds of examples of helping men to help themselves from the home-owning side alone. A director of an association in the metropolitan section, to point out one man's work along brotherhood-of-man lines, takes pride in the fact that he has personally induced at least one hundred men and women to make a start in home-owning, and that one hundred free-and-clear homes stand as a result of it. Yet these men and women who paid for their homes through the building and loan association have small incomes, and had only a few hundred dollars each (the average was less than three hundred) when they begun. They formerly lived in a few rented rooms, now they know the sweetness of real home life.—By Archibald W. McEwan, in New York Globe.

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS SHOULD BE EXEMPT FROM CORPORATION TAX.

“It has been the practice of American governments, both State and municipal, to embody in their constitutions and statutes laws exempting property devoted to charitable and educational uses from taxation, on the theory that whatever advanced the education of the people conduced to their greater progress and wealth-producing power, and that whatever was devoted to charitable uses should escape the exactions of the taxgatherer, because it was not productive of income to those who expended the money and possibly also because of the moral sentiment before alluded to.

“It must be conceded, however, that it is good economics as well as good morals, and free from any taint of dubious experiment, for any government to foster home-owning and thrift, that at all times and in all places, these form the basis for a better mode of living and ever growing expenditures on material things which in themselves are taxed by the government; while on the other hand among the most mischievous forms of taxation that can be devised are such as place skill, industry, and frugality at a disadvantage in the struggle for existence.

All taxation to be just should be imposed so that every species of property in proportion to its value be made to bear its due and equal share of the burden: yet, if it be perceived that by minimizing its weight in certain directions for a time, or by excluding here and there the burden altogether, an economic result is achieved which will yield greatly increased returns in the future from the aggregate of taxables, then it is the part of wisdom in that behalf to so minimize or exclude—that is, exempt from taxation.

“It has been well said by a distinguished author (Prof. A. L. Perry) that ‘The right to tax on the part of the government grows out of the whole service rendered by the government to the individual; and that as a return service (or tax) is connected with and limited by the exchanges which the individual makes under the eye of the government, the tax itself should be proportioned as nearly as possible to the amount of those exchanges, and should be justified simply on the ground of them.’

“As before shown, in the advances made by a building association to one of its co-operative members of money on his stock, which he pledges to said association with the promise to continue to make installment payments thereon in the same manner and amount as he had been making as a simple stock-holder, simply adding thereto interest for the prior use of the money contributed to a general fund by himself and his brother stockholders, and further secured by a pledge of the real estate upon which he is paying taxes to the State—in such a transaction there are no exchanges, in the commercial acceptation of that word; and as those securities are not transferable by the association for value, or otherwise, and are held simply for the performance of a promise made, they cannot enter into the subject of exchanges; hence, there is no possible justification for the exaction of a tax thereon by the governing power.

“Thus viewed from economic, ethical, or legal standpoints, the exemption from taxation of local building and loan associations appears to be justified; and as these associations are the wisest, best, and, hitherto, most practical school of education for the great wage-earning class which our civilization has evolved, and a school which rests upon a membership of those who can contribute, not in large sums, but only by the mites saved from meager earnings, the necessity of fostering and sustaining such associations for the direct and indirect advantages accruing therefrom to the nation must be apparent, and in conclusion, therefore, it may be safely said, that the necessity of exempting them is the best justification for so doing.”—Hon. Julius Stern, of Chicago.

DUTIES OF SECRETARY.

The office of secretary is a position of great importance to the association.

He conducts the correspondence, keeps the records and accounts, and in fact is the acting manager of the entire business of the association; more so than the secretary of any other financial institution.

No mistake should be made in the selection of a competent, temperate, first-class man of unusual energy for secretary.

SINKING FUND TO MEET CONTINGENT LOSSES.

Provision for a sinking fund to provide against contingent losses, is fixed by statute, see Section 23, of Building and Loan Laws as follows:

“Such association shall set aside from the gross profits at least three per cent. thereof each year as a sinking fund to provide against contingent losses, until the total amount of such fund so set aside shall equal five per centum of the assets of such association, and such sinking fund shall in no case exceed 10 per centum of the assets of such association: Provided, that no association shall be required to reduce its dividends below six per cent. per annum for that purpose.”

Three per cent. of gross earnings, which will usually be about one-fifth of 1 per cent. of assets, is to be set aside each year until the 5 per cent. is accumulated.

Allowing for the larger assets that the company will ordinarily have when the 5 per cent. is reached, this accumulation will ordinarily be spread over the period of a whole generation and will in any single year affect the current earnings almost inappreciably. If it be argued that stock maturing or withdrawing in the meantime will not share in this contingent fund in case of liquidation, it should be kept in mind that the point is largely theoretical, for the winding up of such an association is highly improbable, except in case of insolvency, in which case the fund would go to pay out the stock.

But, the fundamental answer to the above objections is that the allowance out of current earnings to the contingent fund is in the nature of a current expense or tax on the members for the current benefit, in this, that it adds to the credit of the institution, giving guaranty to the members against loss from time to time, like any other insurance, and really adds to their profits probably as much or more than it costs them by the increased business which the credit it affords will draw to the institution.

Besides, it seems that a contingent fund is absolutely necessary to prevent legal insolvency in case of even a small loss. This must be so, for the stockholders of a building and loan association are not like the stockholders of other companies, permanent members, but are, in a practical sense, its creditors, and outside of this reserve fund a building and loan association can have no assets for which it does not owe every dollar.

SURETY COMPANY BONDS.

The expense of surety company bonds should be paid by the association. The form of bonds issued by these companies should have careful consideration by the attorney of the association to see that they are in proper legal form. Surety company bonds should not cost to exceed $2.50 per thousand dollars per annum.

If the local surety company agent will not write your bonds for $2.50 per thousand, then please write this office for particulars as to $2.50 rate.

BUILDING AND LOAN SAFETY.

By CLARENCE ROYSE, President Savings and Loan Association League of Indiana.

How can the member be assured of the safety of his money? There are two assurances. The first is the fidelity and intelligence of the officers. If those qualities are present, success is absolutely certain, and experience has shown that graft and neglect of duty on the part of officers have been rare exceptions. The second is the protection of the State law prescribing the methods of business and exercising a constant supervision and control.

The new law of 1911 provides for rigid, compulsory examination by the State department at any time, without notice, and at least once each year. This is in harmony with modern developments in every department of industrial and financial life, whereby banks, trust companies, food manufacturers, railways and other monopolies are all subject to inspection and regulation. The member is entitled to every safeguard the State can furnish, and the associations which are honestly and carefully managed will welcome the fullest investigation, and should receive the credit and public confidence to which they are shown to be entitled. There can be no doubt that under the new law, the building and loan associations of the State have been put on a new and higher plane, where they will enjoy the unqualified confidence which they deserve, and they will largely extend their influence in improving the conditions of our modern complex social life.

WHY SHOULD YOU ADVERTISE.

Because—There is not a person, may his income be ever so modest, barely reaching the necessities of life, but who ought to save money. And again, there is no person in this world but who is affected by advertising.

Because—Advertising impresses your name, your object, your merit, your meeting place and date of meeting upon many prospective members.

Because—It increases your membership and the good you are doing.

Because—Increased membership and increased numbers of shares mean lower cost of administration per share, thus increasing your net profits.

Because--The purpose of advertising is to influence the human mind, trying to teach people to believe in you and in the institution you represent. The whole business world rests upon a foundation of confidence. It is impossible to do business successfully when confidence either cannot or is not established, or has been abused and is gone. Lack of confidence in any worthy business, not only building, loan and savings associations, is generally due to ignorance and the fact that the confidence-lacking business is not well known. Publicity is the greatest foe to ignorance. Advertising gives the people at large knowledge about you, the merits of your institution and your business. It is the greatest force in the interest of confidence. It follows that advertising, to be advertising at all, must be educational.—Henry S. Rosenthal, Ed. Am. Bldg. Ass'n News.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Letter from W. T. Cannon, Secretary of The Railroadmen's Building and Savings Association, Indianapolis, Indiana:

MARCH 21, 1913.

Hon. W. H. O'Brien, Auditor of State, City:

Dear Sir—We beg to acknowledge the receipt of your favor of the 14th inst., with reference to the examination of this association, made by your examiners, Messrs. John D. Williams and Isaac Dunn, as of February 10, 1913.

Your letter, together with a copy of the examiners' statement, has been submitted to our board, and they have directed me to assure you of their appreciation of the uniform courtesy and kind consideration received from your Department head, Hon. Gilbert H. Hendren, and examiners, Messrs. Williams and Dunn. Also for the words of encouragement and commendation contained in your letter.

Very truly,

W. T. CANNON,
Secretary.

The Railroadmen's Building and Savings Association has $4,500,000.00 assets, and is the largest association in the State.

Letter from Hon. Thomas B. Orr, Attorney, Anderson Loan Association.

ANDERSON, IND., April 4, 1913.

Hon. G. H. Hendren, Chief Clerk State Building and Loan Department, Indianapolis, Indiana:

Dear Sir—The Indiana Building and Loan Associations have, within the past two years, been given a high degree of public credit.

This condition has resulted partly from the new law and State supervision and partly from the development of the business to meet the needs of a large number of people who can be better served by these institutions than by any other financial institution.

Economical, safe, progressive management, and competent, judicious State supervision will continue to give to the people of this State the best, safest and most beneficent financial institutions known to the law.

Yours respectfully,

THOMAS B. ORR.

The Anderson Loan Association has $2,500,000.00 assets and nearly 10,000 members, the largest membership in the State.

ASSOCIATION SHOULD OWN OFFICE BUILDING.

The principal business of a building and loan association is to build homes for other people or furnish the money with which they do their own building. Naturally, such an institution ought to practice what it preaches, and have a home for itself.

The truth of the business is that every financial institution ought to own the building in which it does business. If it is sound and expects to be permanent, it ought to plant itself and become a substantial and fixed part of the community.

An office building of at least two stories, could be built out of the Sinking Fund. A business room on the first floor and modernly equipped office rooms on the second or additional floors, would usually rent for enough to pay 6% interest and the taxes on the investment in such a building.

This would leave a modern ground floor office and private rear room for directors meetings free of rent, for the building and loan association. There would also be a gradual increase in value from year to year of such a proposed office building if properly located.

STATE LEAGUE.

It is very important that every association should become a member of its State league. A State league is charged with protecting the interests of all the associations in the State. In order that this work may be done intelligently all the associations should be represented in the league in order that their respective needs may be properly represented and fully understood. The league, like an association itself, is a mutual and co-operative institution. Associations, therefore, should identify themselves with it so as to make it co-operative in fact as well as in name. Again, since the league protects the interests of every association in the State, each association should bear its proper share of the expenses and labor connected with the work of the league. It is not fair where there are 357 associations in a State, for fifty or sixty of them to bear the full expense and labor of looking after legislation, perfecting methods and so on.

It ought to be borne in mind also that while a league is an organized body its work must be done by individuals. While the expense of delegates to the league meetings are usually borne by the associations they represent, yet these individual delegates must lose their time from their own private business, and incidentally are put to no little inconvenience and oftentimes expense. Their work if well done is laborious and painstaking. This applies and is especially true of the officers of leagues. Under these circumstances they should certainly have the cordial and unanimous support of the whole interest which they represent, and thus, in a measure, lightening their burdens, giving them such a standing and prestige that will make them far more influential in securing the ends for which they labor.—Henry S. Rosenthal, Editor American Building Association News.

AMERICAN BUILDING ASSOCIATION NEWS AND ROSENTHAL'S NEW BOOK ON "BUILDING, LOAN AND SAVINGS ASSOCIATIONS."

The American Building Association News, a monthly magazine, official organ of the United States League of Building and Loan Associations, is the recognized authority on building association matters. Subscription $2.00 per annum. No new association, neither can the old associations afford to do without this excellent magazine, always full of interesting and useful building and loan information. We not only recommend, but we urge all associations in the State to immediately subscribe for this magazine of up-to-date information, that is indispensable to all wide-awake and successful associations.

Henry S. Rosenthal's New Book on "Building, Loan and Savings Associations" is the only and most comprehensive publication, dealing with this subject.

The book springs from the mind of an expert, and every word is authoritative. In a careful and painstaking manner the author traces the historical growth of the world-wide building, loan and savings movement; discusses the organization of an association; tells the duties and rights of members; answers practical questions; delves into the legal aspects of the work, in short, leaves no phase of the subject untouched. It opens up new vistas in building association work, throwing a searchlight on the past and foreshadowing the possibilities of the future. Price of this excellent book only $3.50. Both the American Building Association News and this valuable book, $5.00. Address the American Building Association News Company, Cincinnati, Ohio.

VERY COMPLIMENTARY.

Hon. Henry S. Rosenthal is the Editor and Publisher of the "American Building Association News," official organ of the National League of Building and Loan Associations, and author and publisher of the only authoritative text-books, which are most comprehensive publications dealing with this subject. Mr. Rosenthal has also represented the National League at the international conventions at London and Paris. The following article in the May issue of the American Building Association News is the most complimentary ever published concerning any State Building and Loan Department in the United States.

INDIANA STATE REPORT.

The Second Annual Report of Indiana, showing the standing of the various building and loan associations as found by William H. O'Brien, Auditor of State, and ex-officio Inspector (report prepared by Gilbert H. Hendren, Chief Clerk State Building and Loan Department) shows that there is now in the State of Indiana 357 associations, with a membership of 142,202 and total assets amounting to $51,101,921.75. Seven thousand eight hundred and seventy-five new homes were built or homes already built were purchased for members by building and loan associations and thousands of loans were made to members to improve the homes already owned by such members, during the year 1912.

The new building and loan law is now recognized as the most important piece of legislation passed at the 1911 session of the Legislature and is generally regarded as the best building and loan law in the United States.

Building and loan associations encourage thrift and economy and promote the ownership of homes.

Such associations are now under the same system of supervision and examination as provided for banks and trust companies and are the most economically conducted, safest and most beneficent financial home building institutions in the world. It is gratifying to be able to report that no surety company or individual bondsmen has paid a dollar on any bond of any building and loan official of any association in Indiana, for any shortage, since the new law went into effect and after the first examination.

The following resolution was made by the Savings and Loan Association League of Indiana:

"Resolved, That the new Building and Loan Law of 1911 of the State of Indiana has demonstrated the wisdom of its passage and the benefits accruing to the associations of the State from regular supervision and examination by the Auditor of State.

"Resolved, further, That in the administration of this law by the Building and Loan Department, under the direction of the Hon. Gilbert H. Hendren, we recognize that the department has been conducted with thoroughness and conscientious devotion to duty, and with a view of promoting the best interests of all the associations of the State."

The different subjects taken up and discussed by Mr. Hendren in his annual report cover many points of vital interest to the future success and growth of building associations. Some of the points covered are: Tornado Insurance, Quick Assets, Clearing House for Surplus Money, Premiums, Taxation, Life Insurance for Borrowers, Foreign Building and Loan Associations, Duties and Liability of Directors, Contingent Loss Fund, Surety Company Bonds, etc.

Considering the fact that Indiana has 357 associations, 142,202 members and $51,101,921 assets, the total annual expense of only $8,336 for efficient and thorough State supervision and examination makes Indiana the banner State of the Union for efficiency and economy, in the matter of her State Building and Loan Department, making a cost of about $23.00 per association.—American Building Association News.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR WOODROW WILSON.

(Now President of the United States) at Atlantic City, Wednesday afternoon, July 10, 1912, to the United States League of Building and Loan Associations:

Mr. President, Members of the League, Ladies and Gentlemen—All the world comes to Atlantic City. (Applause.) It is a city not only of universal resort, but it is also, we are happy to know, a city of conventions, not that it is a conventional city—it is an extremely unconventional city—but conventions resort here in great numbers, and therefore it is my pleasure as Governor of the State to welcome here important bodies of men who have come upon errands which are out of the common and which concern the general welfare of the country.

Certainly your association is of that sort. I am deeply interested in the objects of it and am sincerely pleased to have the opportunity and honor of welcoming you to New Jersey. We would be glad to know that New Jersey is a place to come and learn from; we would be glad to know that New Jersey affords an atmosphere to hold council governing matters of the highest importance.

At noon today I had the pleasure of being present at the laying of the cornerstone of the addition to the Young Men's Christian Association, and I spoke there about co-operation in morals. Your business is co-operation in economy, and I am not very sure that there is a wide space separating the two questions—the moral question and the economical question.

A very thoughtful preacher, to whom I had the pleasure of listening once, pointed out what might be the sequence of the petitions in our Lord's prayer, where we are told to pray for our daily bread, and perhaps it has this significance, that you cannot worship God on an empty stomach, and that the spiritual crises, the spiritual strength which every man ought to seek, cannot come unless the physical foundations of his life are properly laid, and this physical foundation can not be properly laid unless the economic foundations are properly laid.

I have sometimes heard men say that politics must have nothing to do with business, and I have often wished that business had nothing to do with politics, and yet when you think of the matter seriously there can be no separation between business and any other interest in life, because the foundations of our life are necessarily physical, and necessarily economical, and you cannot deal with anything that concerns the life of man, of society, without dealing sooner or later with questions just such as you are dealing with. and one of the things that strikes me with regard to all co-operative associations is that the characteristic feature of an active life is co-operation. We, alone, among the animals that frequent the surface of the earth associate ourselves together in common endeavor, where we subordinate a certain amount of individual interest to the common interest, which we realize sustains the influence of the individual, and the very word civilization means the joining together in civil society for common business, and a community is civilized in proportion as it can sink its individuals in the common interest. Our business in life from one point of view, as human individuals, is to serve the common weal, so that we have all our lives been proud to be mortals for very definite reasons. I have sometimes known foreigners to laugh at us for boasting of the size of the United States, and they have very naturally asked whether we were responsible for the size of the continent. We necessarily answer that we did not make the continent, but we are proud of its size because we have mastered it and used it from ocean to ocean without breaking our civil connections with one another, and the man is as big as the thing he does. We are as big as the tasks which we have accomplished, and we have knit co-operative communities together in a very substantial union from one coast of this great continent to the other and covered a greater area than any other single civilized nation has ever covered in peaceful co-operation and unity, so that there is a reason for being proud of the size of America. But the characteristic and American feature is that America is constructive, that we have built these things together without losing our connections, that we have been builders and we are judged in our civil capacity, we are judged, indeed, in our moral capacity, by being builders. It seems to me that we have sometimes missed the point of extravagance. I think that a prodigal is an outlaw. A prodigal is a man who says that, "Those resources that are in my hand are formed alone; I hold no responsibility for anybody else, and I can squander just as if I stood alone in God's universe." He thereby declares himself an outlaw; an outlaw against the laws of humanity, those which are laws of love and mutual dependence and mutual endeavor.

So that the dignity of an association like this lies not in its millions, not in the mere language of its statistics, not merely in the success of its organization, but in the expression which gives itself leave in this organization of that provision for others which is the fundamental responsibility of human life. If a man does not provide for his children, if he does not provide for all dependent upon him, and if he has not that vision of conditions to come, and that care for the days that have not yet dawned, which we sum up in the whole idea of thrift and saving, then he has not opened his eyes to any adequate conception of human life. We are in this world to provide not for ourselves, but for others, and that is the basis of economy. (Applause.) So that economy and everything else that ministers to economy supplies the foundations of national life.

The reason we are interested in the postal savings banks and hope that they might develop very much beyond the present meager beginning is that we want men who have only pennies to save, to save them; we want men who have only little glimpses of the future not to lose those glimpses; we do not want to discourage the most humble against ascertaining a confident hope for tomorrow, because the man who does not look for tomorrow cannot sustain the enterprises of national life.

We are building, not for the day but for the future. We are building for the next day and for the day after, and the only dignity that America has ever had arose out of her conception of her responsibility to the world. She said, "We are here going to build a commonwealth whose doors we shall throw open to every man who has hope and ambition under God's heaven, and this is the refuge of those who believe in the future of the human race on earth. Nations do not have any immortality. Nations cannot be calmed in the ordinary sense. Their only immortality, their only salvation and their only chance for dignity is what they are building, building, building, for the future. And so it is not from mere instinctive curiosity that we turn to the monuments of ancient civilization, see the buildings, the Pyramids, the palaces, the great aqueducts, which stand as the permanent memorial of the men who used to live in Egypt, or in Rome, the men who gathered the reins of the world in their hands and tried to drive mankind as the great co-operative team, moving forward into future generations, but every monument of permanency is to us an evidence of the validity of civilization; and men are not ephemeral, they are permanent.

Now, America among all the countries in the world needs a cultivated Providence, and I think it needs a cultivated Providence more than any other nation needs a cultivated Providence, and it needs a cultivated Providence with a big P. America is recognized as a spendthrift country, because in America we think we have inexhaustible resources, but as our population thickens and our resources are more and more exploited, and the difficulties of our public problems increase, we are more and more aware that we need a would-be Providence in the future. We must make sure that there is a margin upon which men of other days can live. You know philanthropic men of recent years have been taking surveys of this, that and the other communities, and some friends of mine, who were concerned in making a survey and a statistical review of the life of one of the most industrial communities of America, told me the result of the survey was this—it is almost incredible, but he told me that out of that great community there were hardly more than two per cent. of the individuals who could eat tomorrow if they did not work today; only two per cent. of those individuals who had any margin whatever to live upon and who did not depend absolutely upon constant labor to sustain their lives. I may say that this may not be accurate, but whether right or wrong, my point is this: We should all make it a point to make a greater security for the tomorrow, and if we do this the sooner we will be able to quit the disturbances and disquietude of our working classes. The disturbances in our modern life come from the difficulty of the casting of the horoscope. You would be desperately uneasy if you did not know what would happen to you tomorrow or the next day. Security is the basis of prosperity in national life. You must make your foundation of hope the foundation of confidence and then all the councils of the nation will clarify themselves and we can overcome that impatience which you cannot clarify in the midst of nervous impatience, you must be sure that the game is going to last long enough for you to go through with the conference. So every enterprise like this should be conducted in the spirit of trustees for the welfare of the nation.

What is happening now, ladies and gentlemen, is simply this: We are trying to create everywhere in the men of large business this fundamental conception that any man who handles any affair bigger than himself is a trustee for the rest of the community (applause), and so in the proportion as we lift ourselves to the full dignity of that conception we shall lift ourselves above the difficulties of private life and against all the confusions and difficulties of public life as well; therefore, it is with a mighty welcome that I bid you welcome today. I bid you welcome with the consciousness that you are dealing with some of these fundamental problems of our national existence and that you are gathered together not merely as men of a common undertaking, but as men of a common responsibility and feeling some of the soberness of citizenship in a great country of volunteer associations. The thing that a man does of his own notion is very much more valuable to him morally than a thing that he is obliged to do by law of the community that he lives in, and you—representing this organization of individuals, who have voluntarily denied themselves momentary pleasure or indulgences in order that they may lay by something for the future, and particularly in order that they may make a permanent influence for themselves—represent some of the highest and most valuable instincts and moralities of our life.

I feel that it is proper to be here, because I regard a governor merely as a person in whom, for the time being, centers the co-ordinate life of the community. What goes to the office is not the person who occupies it, but the representative responsibility that is centered in it. How a man can be governor of a great commonwealth and not have these things borne into his consciousness every hour. I cannot understand, and how a man conceiving these things can betray those who have laid confidence in him, make me wonder how some men sleep at night. It is not a matter of keeping out of jail. It is a matter of keeping out of trouble with themselves while they are alive. (Applause.) The matter of having a reasonably wholesome taste in your mouth when you swallow and the beauty of responsibility is that it sometimes, by the grace of God, makes a man bigger than he was naturally born to be.

Letter from John R. Welch, Secretary Celtic Savings and Loan Association.

Hon. Wm. H. O'Brien, Auditor of State, Indianapolis, Ind.:

Dear Sir—As secretary for twenty-nine years of the oldest building and loan association in the State and one of the most successful, I have been much interested in the operation of the new Building and Loan Law enacted by the Legislature of 1911. The possibility of serious injury to these splendid institutions by impairing the confidence of the people in them through sensational reports of such exceptional cases of mismanagement as might possibly be found, should the management of the new department be placed in the hands of an unwise and unfriendly official, naturally caused some anxiety to thoughtful building and loan men. But after observing the work of the Building and Loan Department under the new law for two years, I wish to extend to yourself and to the building and loan associations of the State my most sincere congratulations upon the splendid results obtained by the Department under the direction of the Hon. Gilbert H. Hendren.

The building and loan associations of Indiana are today on a more substantial basis than ever before through the wise management of the Department and the friendly co-operation of Mr. Hendren, and we may confidently look forward to a rapid growth of these institutions to the great benefit of the people and of the State.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN R. WELCH,
Secretary.

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION.

Appealed from the Marion Superior Court.

Come the parties by their attorneys, and the court being sufficiently advised in the premises, gives its opinion and judgment as follows, pronounced by Ibach, C. J.

This was an action brought by appellant against appellee, a building and loan association, to secure the cancellation and release of a note and mortgage executed by him, he having previously tendered the amount thereof to appellee. Appellee filed its demurrer to the complaint for want of facts. The demurrer was sustained, to which ruling appellant excepted, and refusing to plead further, judgment was rendered against him for costs. The action of the trial court in sustaining the demurrer to the complaint is the only error assigned.

The note and mortgage which are made a part of the complaint are in the ordinary form made use of by building and loan associations doing business in this state, except that the mortgage contains the following clause, "the mortgagors further agree that in consideration that no fines shall be assessed against the said borrower for non-payment of dues, interest or premiums until they shall have been delinquent therefor for three successive months, they will and do hereby waive the statutory right to repay the said loan at any time, and agree that the debt secured hereby can only be repaid in advance of its maturity by the mortgagors giving said mortgagee written notice of their desire to do six months in advance of the time of such proposed repayment, during which time regular monthly payments of dues, interest and premium shall be made, and that a failure to repay said debt within thirty days after the expiration of said six months shall operate as a waiver of such notice, and require the giving of a new six months' notice before repayment of said debt can be made." This provision as to waiver appears not only in the mortgage, but it is required by the by-laws of the association and is stipulated in the borrowers' application for a loan. These instruments are also made a part of the complaint.

It is conceded by appellee that a borrowing member of a building and loan association, irrespective of the provision of the by-laws and the application for loan above referred to and independent of a similar provision in the mortgage, may, under the statute, repay his loan with interest, fines and other charges, if any, at any time before maturity, and at the same time withdraw from the association, but appellee insists that this right has been effectually waived in the manner above set forth. Appellant contends that whatever is contained in the by-laws of appellee or other instrument executed at the time the loan in question was procured, which attempts to prevent the borrower from paying off his loan at any time before maturity, is void, because it is directly contrary to the statute and consequently is against public policy, and therefore any attempt to waive this positive statutory right as to repayment cannot be upheld.

The statute referred to and relied upon by appellant is the following: "Any borrower may repay his loan at any time and may at the same time withdraw from the association, and for that purpose he shall pay to the association the full face amount of the principal of his loan with all interest, fines, and other charges accrued thereon under the by-laws or the terms of any note, mortgage, or other evidence of indebtedness given for said loan, deducting therefrom the withdrawal value of his stock pledged to secure such loan, as provided in the case of withdrawals of unpledged stock, and deducting also, in case the full amount of premium was paid in advance, so much of the premium paid by him on his loan as shall bear the same proportion to the whole premium by him paid, as the unexpired term for which the loan was made bears to the whole time for which the loan was made; and on such payment being made, the stock held by such person upon which his loan was made, shall be surrendered to the association and cancelled, and thereupon the association shall deliver to such borrower his note, or bond and mortgage, or other evidence of such loan. and shall also enter of record a full satisfaction of such mortgage.” (Acts 1911, p. 390, 391, sec. 13.)

Similar provisions are to be found in the various acts of the Legislature of the State relating to building and loan associations from the time of the earliest legislation upon the subject to the present time, and by all these various enactments of the Legislature a borrowing member of a building and loan association has been given the right to pay off his loan by paying the amount due with interest, charges and fines, if any, at any time before maturity, and at the same time withdraw from the association. (R. S. 1881, sec. 3413; Burns 1908; sec. 4113; Acts 1911, supra.)

The important question therefore, is, whether or not the by-laws of appellee association and the stipulations contained in its contracts with its borrowing members which attempt to annul their rights granted by statute to repay a loan at any time before its maturity, are contrary to the public policy of the State, and therefore void provisions of the contract between appellant and appellee?

Mr. Story, in his work on Conflict of Laws, Sec. 546, after considering a great number of authorities announces the following: “Public policy is in its nature so uncertain and fluctuating, varying with the habits and fashions of the day, with the growth of commerce and the usages of trade, that it is difficult to determine its limits with any degree of exactness. It has never been defined by the courts, but has been left loose and free from definition in the same manner as fraud. This rule may, however, be safely laid down, that whenever any contract conflicts with the morals of the times and contravenes any established interest of society, it is void as being against public policy.”

Mr. Greenwood, in his work on Public Policy, p. 2, says: “By public policy is intended that principle of the law which holds that no subject can lawfully do that which has a tendency to be injurious to the public or against the public good, which may be termed the policy of the law, or public policy in relation to the administration of the law. The strength of every contract lies in the power of the promisee to appeal to the courts of public justice for redress for its violation. The administration of justice is maintained at the public expense. The courts will never, therefore, recognize any transaction which, in its object, operation, or tendency, is calculated to be prejudicial to the public welfare." It is often said that public policy is the policy of the law, and when we refer to what may be termed the public policy of the state, we mean the law of the state as expressed in its constitution and statute laws.

The section of the statute last above cited, giving a positive right to appellant to pay his loan at any time and withdraw his stock is a plain and definite expression of the legislature upon that subject, there is nothing uncertain about its provisions, and when construed in the light of all previous legislation upon the same subject, there can be no doubt as to what the legislature intended when the present law was enacted. The evident purpose of the law was to enable a borrowing member of a building and loan association to pay off his loan and withdraw his stock at any time before maturity when he was prepared to pay the amount due the association, and non-borrower to withdraw his stock upon three months notice. Such a statute ought not to be permitted to become valueless by any by-law of such association, or by any contract which it might enact. The statute in such case must be held to control, and not the contract, whatever its provisions may be. In other words the contract and by-laws of the association must be molded to conform to the statute and the directors of the association have no power to adopt any by-law which would be in conflict with the statutes of the state, or that would have the effect of nullifying the same. (Latimer v. Equitable Loan and Investment Co., 81 Fed. 776, and cases there cited.)

From a consideration of the various statutes passed by our State Legislature affecting building and loan associations it is manifest that the object and purpose in giving life and existence to such an association is to furnish to a large class of the citizens of the State an opportunity to build and procure homes who in all probability might not otherwise be able to do so, the underlying idea being not only to enable the poorer and less fortunate ones who cannot borrow money by the usual and ordinary methods for the purpose of providing homes, to do so by the application of weekly or monthly payments out of their wages, and thereby encourage in them ideas of thrift and economy. These statutes together with many others enacted upon kindred subjects and the decisions of this and the Supreme Court construing the same, plainly indicate the policy of this State to be against the enforcement of such a contract as is insisted upon by the appellee in this case. Likewise it is well understood that a debtor can not be deprived of the benefit of usury laws because he may have voluntarily contracted to pay usurious interest, also that the equity of redemption of a mortgagor in real estate can not be waived by any provision of the mortgage or by the terms of any contract made contemporaneously therewith. Also the right to claim the exemption allowed by statute can not be waived. These are all doctrines which have been sustained consistently by the courts of this as well as many other jurisdictions because they are essential to the protection of the debtor class, who, under pressing necessities will often enter into unfavorable contracts, from which they should be relieved at the first possible opportunity. Consequently the statute now under consideration was passed for the evident purpose of permitting the borrowing member to pay his debt at any time without notice. It would therefore seem that any plan adopted by such association to prevent the payment of loans at any time would not only be in direct conflict with the statute but against the whole theory and policy of the law. We therefore hold that the stipulation of the by-laws and the instruments signed by appellant at the time he procured his loan, which aim to prevent him from paying such loan at any time, are in clear contravention of public policy, and therefore null and void.

The fact that the statute requires a non-borrowing member, in order that he may withdraw from the association and receive the amount due him as an investor, to give a three months notice of his withdrawal, furnishes no support to the contention of appellee, for the provision for such notice in the case of a non-borrowing member is to allow the association, when required to pay back the money which such member has paid in, ample time to obtain sufficient funds to meet such demand, but in the case of the borrower, the money is to be paid by him into the association, and there can be no sufficient reason for holding a notice necessary in such a case.

We are mindful of the principles that one may waive statutory rights in certain instances where such waiver would not be against public policy. But here we have an association which is entirely the creature of statute, which owes its existence to statute, and can do nothing save as authorized by the statute which created its rights, and in conformity therewith. To hold that such an association might by contracts with its members, in any way nullify the provisions of the statute under which it exists, would be to open the way for wholesale disregard of legislative enactments for the public good, by the simple expedient of agreements to waive statutory rights, made at the behest of one party who occupies a much stronger position than the other party at the time the contract is made.

The court erred in sustaining the demurrer to appellant's complaint, and for this error the judgment is reversed.

LAWS OF INDIANA RELATING TO Building and Loan Associations
1911

(Senate Bill No. 33)

AN ACT entitled an act concerning building and loan associations

Definition.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Indiana, That every association heretofore or hereafter incorporated under any law providing for the incorporation of building, loan fund and savings associations, and every association heretofore or hereafter incorporated under any law for the purpose of assisting its members to accumulate and invest their savings, by accumulating a fund from periodical payments on its stock, or otherwise, to be loaned among its members, shall be known in this act as a building and loan association. Such associations organized under the laws of this State shall be known as "domestic" associations, and those organized under the laws of any other State, Territory or Nation, shall be known as "foreign" associations.

DOMESTIC ASSOCIATIONS.

Organization.

SEC. 2. Any number of persons, not less than ten, who are residents of this State, may associate themselves together for the purpose of organizing a building and loan association, and for that purpose they shall make, sign and acknowledge, before some person authorized by the laws of this State to take acknowledgments of deeds, articles of association in writing which shall state:

First. The corporate name adopted by said association which shall not be the same as nor similar to the name of any other association incorporated in this State. The words "building and loan association," or "savings and loan association" shall form part of the name of every corporation hereafter created under this act.

Second. The purposes for which the association is formed.

Third. The amount of its authorized capital stock; the number of shares into which it is divided; the par value of each share; and the number of shares subscribed for, which shall not be less than one hundred in number.

Fourth. The names and places of residence of the several incorporations and the number of shares subscribed by each.

Fifth. The number of its directors and the names of those who shall serve as directors for the first year.

Sixth. A description of the corporate seal.

Seventh. The name of the city or town where such association is to be located.

Filing Articles.

SEC. 3. When executed as aforesaid, said articles of association shall be approved by, and filed with, the Secretary of State, and a copy thereof, together with a certificate under the hand of the Secretary of State, and the seal of his office, reciting that said copy is true and complete and that said articles have been duly approved by and filed with the Secretary of State, shall be recorded in the office of the recorder of the county where said association is located. Upon the recording of said certified copy, the persons named in the articles of association, their associates and successors, shall become a body corporate, and in their corporate name may contract, sue and be sued, and shall have and exercise such powers as are herein granted and such other powers as are necessary to enable such associations to carry out the purposes of its organization, not inconsistent with the provisions of law. The Secretary of State shall collect for the benefit of the State, for filing articles of incorporation of any such association, or any certificate of increase of stock, the sum of five dollars for each fifty thousand dollars of capital stock or fractional part thereof.

Management and Elections.

SEC. 4. The business of the association shall be managed by a board of directors of not less than five members who shall be stockholders and who shall be elected by the stockholders. Notice of such election shall be given at least ten days previous thereto by publication in some newspaper of general circulation published in the town or city where such association is located, or if no such newspaper is published, then the newspaper nearest thereto. Directors shall be elected for terms not exceeding three years, and in case the term is longer than one year, then an equal number, as nearly as may be, shall be elected each year. Such association shall adopt by-laws for the regulation and management of its business; and the periodical meetings of the stockholders and directors, the number, functions and qualifications of the officers of any such association, their terms of office and the time and mode of their election and of the election of directors, the manner of voting and the qualifications of the electors, the number of shares to be voted by each member in person or by proxy, the kind of stock to be issued, the terms and conditions on which stock shall be issued and paid for, loans made and repaid, withdrawals allowed, and the manner of conducting the business of such association shall be determined by the by-laws, subject to the laws of this State: Provided, That at any stockholders' meeting, no stockholder shall vote more than twenty shares of stock in his own right.

Bonds

SEC. 5. The Secretary and treasurer and any other officer or agent having the custody or charge of money or securities belonging to the association, before entering upon their duties, shall give bonds in suitable amounts and with good and sufficient surety, to be approved by the board of directors; said board shall annually examine all such bonds and pass on the sufficiency of the same and may require new or additional bonds at any time, and no director shall become a surety on any such bond.

Non-Election of Directors.

SEC. 6. No building and loan association shall cease or expire from neglect on the part of the corporation to elect directors or officers at the time mentioned in the by-laws, and all directors and officers, elected by such corporation shall continue in office until their successors are duly elected and qualified.

Stock Lien.

SEC. 7. The capital stock of any such associations may be fixed originally in any sum and may be increased or decreased to any sum by the adoption of a resolution for such increase or decrease by the board of directors. Upon a certified copy of such resolution, under the hand of the president and secretary, attested with the corporate seal, being filed in the office of the Secretary of State, and a copy thereof duly certified by the Secretary of State being filed in the office of the recorder of the county where such association is located, and the payment of the fees required by law for such increase or decrease the authority to issue or decrease the stock as thus increased or decreased shall be deemed complete. The capital stock shall be divided into shares of such denomination, not exceeding five hundred dollars each, as the by-laws may prescribe and may be issued in series, if the by-laws so provide, and all stock may be fully or partially paid in advance or may be paid in installments as the by-laws may provide. No periodical payments of installments of stock shall be required exceeding fifty cents per week on each one hundred dollars of stock. Every share of stock shall be subject to a lien for the payment of unpaid installments and other charges incurred thereon under the constitution and by-laws and the by-laws may prescribe the form and manner of enforcing such lien. New shares may be issued in lieu of any shares withdrawn, redeemed or cancelled.

Collection from Members.

SEC. 8. It shall be unlawful for any building and loan association doing business in the State of Indiana to charge or collect from any of the members thereof, on any stock or shares of stock therein, any money or moneys, other than membership fees, loan fees, dues on stock, premium, interest and fines. All membership fees, fines, premium and interest shall be credited to the earnings and all expenses shall be paid out of the earnings of such building and loan association, and no association shall charge or collect a membership fee of more than fifty cents per share.

Withdrawals.

SEC. 9. Any stockholder, or the legal representative of any deceased stockholder, whose stock is unpledged for a loan, wishing to withdraw from such association, may do so upon three months' notice in writing to the board of directors, when such withdrawing stockholder shall be entitled to receive the full amounts of dues paid in upon the stock to be withdrawn, together with all declared dividends thereon, less all fines and other charges provided by the by-laws and a pro rata share of the losses sustained during such stockholders' term of payment: Provided, That not more than one-half of the funds received by the association in any one month shall be applicable to the payment of withdrawing stockholders, unless otherwise ordered by the board of directors; and when the demands of withdrawing stockholders exceed the funds applicable to their payment, they shall be paid in the order in which their notices of withdrawal were filed with the association. The board may in its discretion waive the notice of withdrawal hereinbefore required. No fine shall be charged to any deceased member's account for any fault occurring after his death unless the legal representative of the decedent shall have assumed the future payments on the stock.

Fines.

SEC. 10. Such association shall have power to provide for the assessment of fines for non-payment of dues, premium or interest, but such fines shall not exceed ten per centum of the amount of the delinquent payments or such further sums as shall not exceed five cents per share on each delinquent payment and shall be charged only once thereon.

Loans and Investments.

SEC. 11. Such association shall have the power to loan or advance to the stockholders thereof, moneys of the association and to secure repayment of such money and the performance of all other conditions upon which the loans are made by pledge of shares in said association and note or bond and mortgage on real estate in this State which shall be a first lieu thereon, except taxes and special assessments, and except the prior liens held and owned by said association; to loan the funds of the association upon the pledge of the shares of such association, not to exceed ninety per centum of the withdrawal value of such shares. In case there is no demand for loans on the part of stockholders on real estate mortgages or the stock of the association, such association shall have the power to loan the moneys of the association to its stockholders, or to other than its stockholders upon good and ample real estate or personal security, or invest the same in other approved securities. The by-laws of the association shall prescribe the manner of awarding loans, the rate of interest to be charged, not exceeding the then legal contract rate, and the time and manner when the interest and premium, if any, shall be paid.

Premiums.

SEC. 12. Such association may provide in its by-laws that the loans shall be made to the members of the association who shall bid the highest premiums for the preference or priority in procuring loans, the premiums to be payable at one time or in installments, and it shall be competent and lawful for the borrower from such association to agree, in writing upon a given rate of premium in addition to the interest to be paid upon such loan, without bidding. All contracts heretofore made between any borrower and any such association for the payment of any premiums, with or without any bidding, are hereby legalized. No premiums heretofore contracted for, or to be contracted for under this section, with or without bidding, shall be deemed usurious, and the same may be collected by law as debts of like amount are now collected in this State.

Repayment of Loans.

SEC. 13. Any borrower may repay his loan at any time, and may at the same time withdraw from the association, and for that purpose he shall pay to the association the full face amount of the principal of his loan with all interest, fines, and other charges accrued thereon under the by-laws or the terms of any note, mortgage or other evidence of indebtedness given for said loan, deducting therefrom the withdrawal value of his stock pledged to secure such loan, as provided in the case of withdrawals of unpledged stock, and deducting also, in case the full amount of premium was paid in advance, so much of the premium paid by him on his loan as shall bear the same proportion to the whole premium by him paid, as the unexpired term for which the loan was made bears to the whole time for which the loan was made; and on such payments being made, the stock held by such person upon which his loan was made, shall be surrendered to the association and cancelled, and thereupon the association shall deliver to such borrower his note, or bond and mortgage, or other evidence of such loan, and shall also enter of record a full satisfaction of such mortgage.

Power to hold Real Estate.

SEC. 14. Any such association may purchase at any sale, public or private, any real estate upon which such association may have or hold any mortgage, lien or other incumbrance, or in which it has an interest; it may also acquire and own real estate for the purpose of occupying the same as its own business building and it may also acquire and own real estate in fee simple, and improve the same, for the purpose of selling the same to its stockholders on a contract of sale with such stockholder providing for sale to such stockholder at the cost price of such real estate, or improvements, or both, to such association, made and executed concurrently with said purchase, and the real estate so purchased, and any other real estate that such corporation may hold or be entitled to when this act takes effect, it may sell, convey, exchange, lease or mortgage at pleasure to any person, or persons whatever. No such association shall acquire or hold any real estate except as herein provided.

Borrowed Money.

SEC. 15. Any such association shall have power to borrow money for any of its corporate purposes and issue its evidence of indebtedness therefor.

Infants as Stockholders.

SEC. 16. Infants may become stockholders in any such association the same as adults and such infant stockholders shall be subject to the same duties and liabilities as respects their stock as adult members. Any receipt, release, acquittance or discharge given to the association by an infant stockholder shall be binding upon the infant to the same extent as if he were of full age.

Borrower Misrepresenting Age.

SEC. 17. When, in case of any loan made by any such corporation, the borrower, or any other person furnishing security in behalf of the borrower, shall, as an inducement to the corporation to make the loan, represent to it in writing that he or she is over the age of twenty-one years. whereas in fact such person so representing is under lawful age and the association is thereby deceived, and the loan is upon such representation made, neither such person so representing nor any one in his or her behalf shall afterwards be allowed as against said corporation to take advantage of that fact that he or she was not of full age, but such person shall be estopped by such representation.

Foreclosure.

SEC. 18. In case any borrower shall fail or neglect to pay dues on stock, interest, premiums or fines as provided by the by-laws or the terms of his note, bond, or mortgage or other evidence of indebtedness, for the period of three months, or shall be in default in the performance of any of the obligations imposed upon him thereby, and such default shall continue three months, then the whole of said indebtedness shall become and be immediately due and payable at the option of such association and payment thereof may be enforced by proceedings on his securities according to law.

Transfer of Securities.

SEC. 19. The bonds, notes and mortgages given by members thereof, belonging to any such association, and secured by pledge of the stock thereof, shall not be assignable except upon an order of the circuit court, or the judge thereof in vacation, of the county in which the principal office of said association is situated.

Consolidation of Association.

SEC. 20. Any two or more associations of this State may consolidate into a single corporation by a majority vote of all the stockholders of each of the different associations at a special meeting of each association called for that purpose, of which at least thirty days' notice shall have been given to each member, the consolidation to be upon such terms as shall be mutually agreed upon by the directors of such associations, and such terms shall be plainly set forth to each member in the notice of such special meetings. Any member not consenting to such consolidation shall be entitled to receive the withdrawal value of his stock in settlement or to have such value applied in part settlement of his loan, if he be a borrower.

Liquidation and Settlement.

SEC. 21. . Any building and loan association organized under the laws of this State and doing business within this State, may, if the stockholders deem it advisable, go into liquidation, and for the purpose of so doing may, at any regular or called meeting of the stockholders, adopt a resolution declaring that such association intends to go into liquidation and discontinue business as a building and loan association. A copy of such resolution duly certified by the president and secretary of such association under the seal thereof, shall be transmitted to the Auditor of State within ten days after the passage thereof, together with a fee of one dollar for the filing of the same in his office; and thereupon the Auditor of State shall issue his certificate reciting that such resolution has been filed in his office, and that such association is in liquidation. After the filing of such notice, it shall not be lawful for such association to issue stock, or to loan or advance its money to members or to any other person or persons, but all of the income and receipts of such association, in excess of the actual expense of managing the same, shall be applied to pay off first the indebtedness and then the stock in such association upon which no loans have been made, the same to be paid pro rata. The board of directors of such association in liquidation may adopt such rules and make such orders as shall be just and equitable for the sale and disposition of all property held by such association, the assessment to meet losses, if any, and for the division of the profits of such association. Proceedings for the appointment of a receiver for an association shall not be entertained by any court except on the written recommendation of the Auditor of State, or upon the written request of at least twenty-five members duly acknowledged by each member signing the same before some officer authorized to take the acknowledgment of deeds.

Taxation.

SEC. 22. All building and loan associations, as such, shall be exempt from taxation except upon their real estate. Shares of stock on which loans have not been made or advanced by the association, shall be considered and held as credits of the members, individually, and listed by them, and assessed against them for taxation as other property.

Contingent Fund.

SEC. 23. Such association shall set aside from the gross profits at least three per cent. thereof each year as a sinking fund to provide against contingent losses, until the total amount of such fund so set aside shall equal five per centum of the assets of such association, and such sinking fund shall in no case exceed 10 per centum of the assets of such association: Provided, That no association shall be required to reduce its dividend below six per cent. per annum for that purpose.

Dividends.

SEC 24. Dividends shall be declared, credited or paid on the stock, in proportion to the amount paid in on such stock quarterly, semi-annually or annually as the by-laws may provide, but no dividends shall be declared, credited or paid by any such association except out of net profits collected, after deducting from the earnings all expenses of operation and losses sustained.

Department Created.

SEC. 25. There is hereby established in the office of the Auditor of State a building and loan association depart ment under the control and direction of the Auditor of State, who shall be ex-officio building and loan association inspector and shall be charged with the execution of the laws of this State relating to building and loan associations. He is hereby authorized to employ a clerk in his office to be known as the building and loan clerk, who shall be paid as provided by law, and three building and loan examiners, not more than two of whom shall be of the same political party, each of whom shall be paid a salary of eighteen hundred dollars per year. Said building and loan clerk and examiners shall also be paid their actual and necessary traveling and hotel expenses while absent from their places of residence, incurred in the performance of their official duty. Each examiner shall file with the Auditor of State an itemized statement of expenses, duly verified by his oath, and the Auditor of State, after examining and approving the same, shall issue his warrant therefor. Such building and loan clerk and examiners shall be appointed for a term of two years and shall be subject to removal at any time by the Auditor of State and shall qualify before entering upon the discharge of their duties, by giving a bond payable to the State of Indiana in the sum of five thousand dollars to be approved by the Auditor of State, conditioned for the faithful performance of their duties as prescribed by law. Such examiners shall have the powers and perform the duties herein prescribed under the direction of the Auditor of State. All records and papers relating to the business of the association when its business is fully completed after voluntary liquidation shall be filed in the office of the Auditor of State for future reference.

Annual Reports.

SEC. 26. Every domestic building and loan association shall in the month of January of each year file in the office of the Auditor of State a statement of its condition at the close of business on the 31st day of December preceding. Such statement shall be under the oath of the president and secretary and at least three directors of such association, and shall show in such form as may be prescribed by the Auditor of State, the name and location of such association, date of incorporation, the names of its officers and directors, the amount of its authorized capital stock and the amount of its capital stock paid in, the number of members and of shares subscribed for, and separately the amount of membership fees, dues, interest, premiums, fines, assessments, and all other receipts; also all sums paid on loans withdrawals, losses, salaries and all other expenses, dividends, interest and all other expenditures; it shall also contain a detailed statement of the assets of such association, the character of such assets and the fair cash value thereof, together with the nature and fair cash value of all securities of such association; it shall also contain a detailed statement of the liabilities of such association and the character of such liabilities, the par value and the amount of dues or assessments payable on each share of stock issued by such association, when such dues and assessments are payable, the amount of premiums and the interest charged on loans made by such association, the amount and rate of interest paid on debenture, paid-up or other stock issued by such association or other moneys, received by it, and such other information concerning the business of such association as may from time to time be required by the Auditor of State. Such associations shall file in the office of the Auditor of State copies of their by-laws or rules and copies of each of the several kinds of certificates issued to their stockholders or other investors and copies of any amendments or charges therein.

Failure to Report.

SEC. 27. The president and secretary of any such association failing to make and file the reports required by this act within thirty days after the same are due, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars. Upon failure to file such report it shall be the duty of the Auditor of State to notify the president and secretary of such association of such failure, and if such report is not filed within thirty days from the date of such notice, then it shall be the duty of the Auditor of State to examine such association as provided in section thirty of this act.

Accounts.

SEC 28. All such associations shall keep full and correct books of account showing all their operations and the Auditor of State is hereby authorized to formulate and prescribe such regulations respecting the manner and form of keeping such accounts, as he shall deem necessary for the making of reports and examinations required by law, such regulation to be uniform for all accounts of the same class.

Annual Statement to Members.

SEC 29. It shall be the duty of every such association to furnish, within thirty days after the annual statement to the Auditor of State, an annual written or printed statement of the condition of such association to each of the stockholders thereof, which said statement shall be delivered personally or mailed to the stockholder. Such statement shall show separately the amount of membership fees, loan fees, dues, interest and fines, together with all moneys received by it from any source whatever, and a full showing of all payment on loans, dividends, salaries and all expenditures of every character, being a full and complete financial statement of such association during the preceding year. The statement shall be sworn to by the secretary, and certified by the directors or a majority thereof.

Examinations.

SEC. 30. The affairs of every domestic building and loan association not in liquidation shall be examined by the Auditor of State, or by the building and loan clerk or one of the examiners, provided for by section twenty-five of this act, or by any bank examiner appointed and qualified under the laws of this State, under the direction of the Auditor of State, as often as shall be deemed necessary and without any notice to such association, its officers, or agents, and such examiner shall have the power and shall make a thorough examination into the condition, working and affairs generally of such association, and he shall have the power to examine any officer, agent or employe of such association, or any other person under oath touching the affairs thereof and for that purpose shall have the power to administer oaths; and all books, papers, records and assets of such association shall be subject to his inspection. Said examiner shall make report of his findings and file the same in the office of the Auditor of State and said auditor shall furnish a copy of such report to the association examined. Said examiner shall report any violations of law or any unauthorized or unsound practices or any failure to keep full and correct accounts of the business of such association. The fees for examining domestic building and loan associations shall be as follows: For examining associations having assets of less than $25,000 a fee of $5 shall be charged; for examining associations having assets of over $25,000 and less than $50,000, a fee of $7.50 shall be charged; for examining associations having over $50,000 assets and less than $100,000 assets a fee of $10 shall be charged. For each additional $100,000 of assets or fractional part thereof a fee of $5 shall be charged. Which amounts shall be assessed by the Auditor of State upon and paid by the respective associations so examined immediately upon the completion of the examination, to the Auditor of State, but no association shall be required to pay for more than one examination each year.

Notice to Directors.

SEC. 31. Should the Auditor of State find any such association conducting its business in whole or in part, contrary to law, or failing to comply with the law, he shall so notify the board of directors of such association in writing, and if, after thirty days, such illegal practice or failure continue, he shall report the facts to the Attorney-General, who shall cause proceedings to be begun in the proper court to revoke the charter of such association.

Report to Attorney-General.

SEC. 32. Should the Auditor of State find, upon examination, that the affairs of any such association are in an unsound condition, and that the interests of the public demand the dissolution of such association, and the winding up of its business, he shall so report to the Attorney-General, who shall institute the proper proceedings for that purpose.

Refusal to Permit Examination.

SEC. 33. The refusal of any such association to permit the examination of its affairs as authorized by this act shall be sufficient cause for institution of proceedings to wind up its affairs, as provided in section thirty-two of this act.

FOREIGN ASSOCIATIONS.

Statements.

SEC. 34. It shall be unlawful for any corporation, association, or society organized under the laws of any State or Territory (other than the State of Indiana), or of any government foreign to the government of the United States, to conduct or engage in the business of the building loan fund, savings or investment association, and of issuing stocks or bonds to members, payable in weekly, monthly or yearly installments or assessments, agreeing to pay thereon dividends or profits, or interest, or to pay off bonds by number consecutively or otherwise, without first having filed in the office of the Auditor of State a statement, under the oath of the president, secretary and at least three of the directors, showing the name and location of such corporation, association or society, date of incorporation, the names of its officers, the amount of its capital stock, the amount of its capital stock paid in, the amount of the assets of said corporation, association or society, the character of such assets and the fair cash value thereof, together with the fair cash value of all of the securities held by such corporation, association or society; the liabilities of such corporation, association or society, and the character of such liabilities; the par value and the amount of dues or assessments chargeable on each share of stock issued by such corporation, association or society; the proportion of such dues or assessments credited to the loan fund, expense fund, or other fund; when such assessments or dues are payable; the amount of premium and interest charged on loans made by such corporation, association or society; the amount of interest paid on debenture, paid-up or other stock issued by said corporation, association or society; and such other information concerning the business of said corporation, association or society as may from time to time be required by said Auditor of State.

Copy of Act of Incorporation.

SEC. 35. In addition to the statement required by section thirty-four (34) of this act said foreign corporation, association or society shall file with the Auditor of State a copy of its act of incorporation, properly authenticated by the officer of the State in which said foreign corporation, association or society is incorporated, a copy of the by-laws and rules governing it, and of each of the several kinds of the certificates issued to its shareholders, or stockholders.

Deposit of Cash or Bonds.

SEC. 36. Every such foreign corporation, association or society doing business in this State shall conduct the same in accordance with the laws of this State governing domestic associations. It shall also deposit with the Auditor of State one hundred thousand dollars either in cash or bonds of the United States, or of any State of the United States, or any county or municipal corporation in the State of Indiana, satisfactory to the auditor, or in lieu of any such deposit, any such foreign corporation, association or society shall file with the Auditor of State a written contract or bond executed by a responsible surety and guaranty corporation or company to the approval of the Auditor of State, by which contract or bond said surety and guaranty corporation or company shall agree that upon notice by mail from said auditor that any such foreign corporation, association or society is indebted to any citizen of the State of Indiana in any sum or sums, which indebtedness it refuses to promptly pay, that it will at once pay such sum or sums to said auditor and continue so to do from time to time until such payments shall equal one hundred thousand dollars; and upon failure to make such payment or payments, then such auditor shall at once revoke the license of any such foreign corporation, association or society, under section 37 of this act, and suit against such surety and guaranty corporation or company shall be brought by the State of Indiana on relation of the Attorney-General of said State, and any judgment recovered against any such surety and guaranty corporation or company shall include one hundred dollars damages and costs of suit exclusive of such sum or sums of indebtedness in favor of such citizen or citizens, which damages shall be the compensation of said Attorney-General for recovering such judgment. Such surety and guaranty corporation or company shall agree in writing, filed with the auditor before acceptance by the auditor of its contract or bond, to accept service of process of court by service thereof on the auditor, who shall mail a copy thereof to the office of such corporation or company. And such auditor may, whenever in his judgment he thinks any such contract or bond so filed in his office to be insufficient, request any such foreign corporation, association or society to file a new bond, satisfactory to such auditor, and upon failure to comply with such requirement said auditor shall revoke the license of said foreign corporation, association or society, as provided in said section 37, to do business in this State, and such foreign corporation, association or society shall not be entitled to enforce by legal proceedings any evidence of indebtedness against any citizen or citizens in this State or any mortgage against any property in this State until such requirement has been complied with. Any such foreign corporation or society shall also file with the auditor a written instrument, properly executed, agreeing that a summons may issue against it from any county in the State, and when served upon the Auditor of State shall be service upon such foreign corporation, association or society. The auditor shall, however, mail a copy of the papers served upon him, postage prepaid to the home office of such foreign corporation, association or society.

License by Auditor.

SEC. 37. Upon compliance with the preceding sections of this act by any such foreign corporation, association or society, and the Auditor of State is satisfied that it is doing a lawful and safe business, he may issue to said foreign corporation, association or society a license authorizing it to conduct its business in this State and to solicit subscriptions from the residents of this State to its capital stock. The Auditor of State shall have the power at any time, to revoke said license when said foreign corporation, association or society fails or refuses to comply with any of the provisions of this act, or when any such foreign corporation, association or society shall refuse to permit to be made the examination of the affairs of such foreign corporation, association or society hereinafter provided for, or when, upon examination, the Auditor of State shall find that such foreign corporation, association or society is not conducting its business in accordance with the law, or that the affairs of such foreign corporation, association or society are in an unsound condition: Provided, That upon the revocation of said license, said auditor shall cause a notice thereof to be mailed to the home office of such foreign corporation, association or society, and to be published in at least one newspaper published in the city of Indianapolis: And, provided further, That after the publication of such notice it shall be unlawful for any agent of such foreign corporation, association or society to receive further stock deposits from members residing in this State, except payments on stock on which a loan has been made.

Deposits—How Held.

SEC. 38. The deposit made with the auditor shall be held as security for all claims of residents of this State against said foreign corporation, association or society, and shall be liable for all judgment or decrees thereon. Such foreign corporation, association or society may collect and use the interest on any security so deposited, as required by section thirty-six (36) of this act, so long as it fulfills its obligations and complies with the provisions of this act. It may also exchange them for other securities of equal value and satisfactory to the auditor. All securities or cash deposited with the auditor shall be immediately deposited by him with the Treasurer of State, who, with his sureties, shall be responsible for the safe keeping thereof. The treasurer shall deliver such securities only upon written order of the auditor.

Agents to Procure Certificates.

SEC. 39. Every agent or person engaged, directly or indirectly, in soliciting subscriptions to the capital stock of any such foreign corporation, association or society shall first procure from the Auditor of State a certificate showing the appointment of such person as such agent of said foreign corporation, association or society, to which certificate the Auditor of State shall attach a certified copy of the statement of condition of such foreign corporation, association or society. It shall be unlawful for such auditor to issue such certificate except upon the filing in his office of a written appointment under the hand of the president and secretary of said foreign corporation, association or society, attested by its corporate seal. Such certificate shall be renewed annually in the month of January of each year.

Examination by the Auditor.

SEC. 40. The Auditor of State shall examine, or cause to be examined, under the provisions of this act, whenever in his judgment it may be necessary for the interests of the shareholders or stockholders of said foreign corporation, association or society residing in this State, every detail of the business of any said foreign corporation, association or society transacting business in this State. Said examination shall be made at the expense of the foreign corporation, association or society examined, and consent to make such examination shall be filed before any certificate authorizing such foreign corporation, association or society shall be granted by said Auditor of State.

Reports by Association.

SEC. 41. Every such foreign corporation, association or society authorized to transact business in this State shall on the first day of January in each year file a report under the oath of its president or secretary, and which shall be certified to by at least three directors showing the gross amount of assessments, dues, fines, membership fees and all moneys collected by said foreign corporation, association or society from shareholders or stockholders residing in this State during the previous year. Such statement shall also show the amount of money loaned by said foreign corporation, association or society to any of its shareholders or stockholders residing in this State during the previous year. Any such foreign corporation, association or society shall pay to the Auditor of State, to be by him paid into the treasury of the State, the sum of three dollars ($3.00) on every one hundred dollars ($100) received by such foreign corporation, association or society from the shareholders or stockholders residing in this State, less the amount actually loaned to the shareholders or stockholders of such foreign corporation, association or society residing in this State

Statement—Filing of.

SEC. 42. Every such foreign corporation, association or society shall, in addition to the report required by section forty-one (41) of this act, on the first of January of each year file with the Auditor of State a detailed statement showing separately the amount of membership fees, dues interest, premium, fines, forfeitures, assessments, expense fund, receipts and all other moneys received by it, together with a full showing of amounts paid on loans, withdrawals, losses, salaries, and all other expenses, dividends, interest or other expenditures; and it shall further show the amount of the assets of said foreign corporation, association or society, the character of such assets, the fair cash value thereof, together with the nature and fair cash value of all securities of such foreign corporation, association or society; and it shall also show the liabilities of such foreign corporation, association or society, and the character of such liabilities; the par value and the amount of dues or assessments chargeable on each share of stock issued by such foreign corporation, association or society; the proportion of such dues or assessments credited to the loan fund, expense fund or other fund; when such assessments or dues are payable; the amount of premium and interest charged on loans made by such foreign corporation, association or society; the rate and amount of interest paid on debenture, paid up or other stock issued by such foreign corporation, association or society, and such other information concerning the business of such foreign corporation, association or society as may from time to time be required by the Auditor of State

Fees Collected by Auditor.

SEC. 43. The Auditor of State shall charge and collect from such foreign corporation, association or society, for filing the statements and other papers and issuing the certificates required to be filed and issued by this act the same fees as are charged and collected from insurance companies doing business in this State, which are chartered and incorporated under the laws of the State in which such foreign corporation, association or society is incorporated.

Publication of Settlements.

SEC. 44. The Auditor of State shall cause to be printed once in two papers of general circulation representing the two political parties casting the highest number of votes at the last preceding election, published in the city of Indianapolis, the annual statement of such foreign corporation, association or society required to be filed in his office by section forty-two (42) of this act. The cost of such publication shall be paid by such foreign corporation, association or society.

Penalty for Unlawful Business.

SEC. 45. Any person or persons who, either directly or indirectly shall solicit subscriptions to the capital stock of any such foreign corporation, association or society, or act as agent for and such foreign corporation, association or society, without first procuring the certificate required in section thirty-nine (39) of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500), to which may be added imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding thirty (30) days

Receiver.

SEC 46. That where a foreign building and loan association doing business within this State has become insolvent, and its affairs are being wound up by a receiver, the failure of such association to have complied with the laws of the State respecting its admission to do business therein, shall not effect the right of such receiver to bring any suit necessary to wind up the affairs of such association.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

Publication of Reports.

SEC. 47. The Auditor of State shall annually compile the reports of all such associations required to be filed in his office and shall publish the same in his annual report to the Governor and General Assembly, together with a report of the operation of the building and loan department, the receipts and expenses of such department and such additional information respecting the building and loan associations doing business in the State of Indiana as may be of general interest.

Fees of Department.

SEC. 48. All fees and charges collected by the Auditor of State under any provisions of the law of this State from all building and loan associations, shall be kept in a separate account and paid to the State Treasurer accompanied by a report thereof, once each month. The salaries of examiners and other expenses of the building and loan association department shall be paid out of any moneys in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Disclosures of Examiners—Penalty.

SEC. 49. It shall be unlawful for any inspector or examiner appointed or acting under the provisions of this act to disclose to any person otherwise than officially to the Auditor of State by the report made to him, or in compliance with the order and precept of a court, the names of stockholders or depositors in any such association, or any information respecting their private accounts. Every inspector or examiner who violates the foregoing provision shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars.

Repeal.

SEC. 50. All laws and parts of laws in conflict with this act are hereby repealed; and the following acts upon the same subject matter and all acts amendatory thereof, are hereby expressly repealed, to wit:

The act approved March 11, 1875, published on page 17 of the acts of the General Assembly for that year.

The act approved March 24, 1879, published on page 80 of the acts of the General Assembly for that year.

The acts which became a law by lapse of time without the Governor's signature March 11, 1885, published on page 81 of the acts of the General Assembly for that year.

The act approved March 7, 1887, published on page 40 of the acts of the General Assembly for that year.

The act approved March 3, 1893, published on page 274 of the acts of the General Assembly for that year.

Section 89 of the act approved March 6, 1891, and which section is published on page 233 of the acts of the General Assembly for that year.

The act approved March 8, 1897, published on page 284 of the acts of the General Assembly for that year.

The act approved March 5, 1909, published on page 174 of the acts of the General Assembly for that year.

Provided, however, That all rights acquired and all acts performed in pursuance of the provisions of any act so repealed shall not be affected by such repeal.

There were no amendments at the 1913 session of the Legislature.
